Quantcast assumes no liability for Customer’s reliance on the Solution. The foregoing exclusions and disclaimers are an essential part of this Agreement and formed a basis for enabling Quantcast to offer the Solution to Customer. 1. Data Centre & Network Security

(a) Data Centres.

Infrastructure. Quantcast maintains geographically distributed data centres. Quantcast stores all production data in physically secure data centres.

Redundancy. Infrastructure systems have been designed to eliminate single points of failure and minimise the impact of anticipated environmental risks. Dual circuits, switches, routers or other necessary network devices help provide this redundancy. The Quantcast Choice Basic Services are designed to allow Quantcast to perform certain types of preventative and corrective maintenance without interruption. All environmental equipment and facilities have documented preventative maintenance procedures that detail the process for and frequency of performance in accordance with the manufacturer’s or internal specifications. Preventative and corrective maintenance of the data centre equipment is scheduled through a standard process according to documented procedures.

Power. The data centre electrical power systems are designed to be redundant and maintainable without impact to continuous operations, 24 hours a day, and 7 days a week. In most cases, a primary as well as an alternate power source, each with equal capacity, is provided for critical infrastructure components in the data centre. Backup power is provided by various mechanisms such as uninterruptible power supply (UPS) batteries, which supply consistently reliable power protection during utility brownouts, blackouts, over voltage, under voltage, and out-of-tolerance frequency conditions. If utility power is interrupted, backup power is designed to provide transitory power to the data centre, at full capacity, for up to 10 minutes until the diesel generator systems take over. The diesel generators are capable of automatically starting up within seconds to provide enough emergency electrical power to run the data centre at full capacity typically for a period of days.

Server Operating Systems. Quantcast servers use hardened operating systems which are customised for the unique server needs of the business. Data is stored using proprietary algorithms to augment data security and redundancy. Quantcast employs a code review process to increase the security of the code used to provide the Quantcast Choice Basic Services and enhance the security products in production environments.

Businesses Continuity. Quantcast replicates data over multiple systems to help to protect against accidental destruction or loss. Quantcast has designed and regularly plans and tests its business continuity planning/disaster recovery programs.

(b) Networks & Transmission.

Data Transmission. Data centres are typically connected via high-speed private links to provide secure and fast data transfer between data centres. This is designed to prevent data from being read, copied, altered or removed without authorisation during electronic transfer or transport or while being recorded onto data storage media. Quantcast transfers data via industry standard network protocols.

External Attack Surface. Quantcast employs multiple layers of network devices and intrusion detection to protect its external attack surface. Quantcast considers potential attack vectors and incorporates appropriate purpose built technologies into external facing systems.

Intrusion Detection. Intrusion detection is intended to provide insight into ongoing attack activities and provide adequate information to respond to incidents. Quantcast’s intrusion detection involves:

1. Tightly controlling the size and make-up of Quantcast’s attack surface through preventative measures;
2. Employing intelligent detection controls at data entry points; and
3. Employing technologies that automatically remedy certain dangerous situations.
Incident Response. Quantcast monitors a variety of communication channels for security incidents, and Quantcast’s security personnel will react promptly to known incidents.

Encryption Technologies. Quantcast makes HTTPS encryption (also referred to as SSL or TLS connection) available. Quantcast servers support ephemeral elliptic curve Diffie Hellman cryptographic key exchange signed with RSA and ECDSA. These perfect forward secrecy (PFS) methods help protect traffic and minimise the impact of a compromised key, or a cryptographic breakthrough.

2. Access and Site Controls

(a) Site Controls.

On-site Data Centre Security Operation. Quantcast’s data centres maintain an on-site security operation responsible for all physical data centre security functions 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. The on-site security operation personnel monitor Closed Circuit TV (“CCTV”) cameras and all alarm systems. On-site security operation personnel perform internal and external patrols of the data centre regularly.

Data Centre Access Procedures. Quantcast maintains formal access procedures for allowing physical access to the data centres. The data centres are housed in facilities that require electronic card key access, with alarms that are linked to the on-site security operation. All entrants to the data centre are required to identify themselves as well as show proof of identity to on-site security operations. Only authorised employees, contractors and visitors are allowed entry to the data centres. Only authorised employees and contractors are permitted to request electronic card key access to these facilities. Data centre electronic card key access requests must be made in advance and in writing, and require the approval of the requestor’s manager and the data centre director. All other entrants requiring temporary data centre access must: (i) obtain approval in advance from the data centre managers for the specific data centre and internal areas they wish to visit; (ii) sign in at on-site security operations; and (iii) reference an approved data centre access record identifying the individual as approved.

On-site Data Centre Security Devices. Quantcast’s data centres employ an electronic card key and biometric access control system that is linked to a system alarm. The access control system monitors and records each individual’s electronic card key and when they access perimeter doors, shipping and receiving, and other critical areas. Unauthorised activity and failed access attempts are logged by the access control system and investigated, as appropriate. Authorised access throughout the business operations and data centres is restricted based on zones and the individual’s job responsibilities. The fire doors at the data centres are alarmed. CCTV cameras are in operation both inside and outside the data centres. The positioning of the cameras has been designed to cover strategic areas including, among others, the perimeter, doors to the data centre building, and shipping/receiving. On-site security operations personnel manage the CCTV monitoring, recording and control equipment. Secure cables throughout the data centres connect the CCTV equipment. Cameras record on-site via digital video recorders 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. The surveillance records are retained for at least 7 days based on activity.

(b) Access Control.

Infrastructure Security Personnel. Quantcast has, and maintains, a security policy for its personnel, and requires security training as part of the training package for its personnel. Quantcast’s infrastructure security personnel are responsible for the ongoing monitoring of Quantcast’s security infrastructure, the review of the Quantcast Choice Basic Services, and responding to security incidents.

Access Control and Privilege Management. Customer’s administrators and users must authenticate themselves via a central authentication system or via a single sign on system in order to use the Quantcast Choice Basic Services.

Internal Data Access Processes and Policies – Access Policy. Quantcast’s internal data access processes and policies are designed to prevent unauthorised persons and/or systems from gaining access to systems used to process personal data. Quantcast aims to design its systems to: (i) only allow authorised persons to access data they are authorised to access; and (ii) ensure that personal data cannot be read, copied, altered or removed without authorisation during processing, use and after recording. The systems are designed to detect any inappropriate access. Quantcast employs a centralised access management system to control personnel access to production servers, and only provides access to a limited number of authorised personnel. LDAP, Kerberos and a proprietary system utilising SSH certificates are designed to provide Quantcast with secure and flexible access mechanisms. These mechanisms are designed to grant only approved access rights to site hosts, logs, data and configuration information. Quantcast requires the use of unique user IDs, strong passwords, two factor authentication and carefully monitored access lists to minimise the potential for unauthorised account use. The granting or modification of access rights is based on: the authorised personnel's job responsibilities; job duty requirements necessary to perform authorised tasks; and a need to know basis. The granting or modification of access rights must also be in accordance with Quantcast’s internal data access policies and training. Approvals are managed by workflow tools that maintain audit records of all changes. Access to systems is logged to create an audit trail for accountability. Where passwords are employed for authentication (e.g. login to workstations), password policies that follow at least industry standard practices are implemented. These standards include restrictions on password reuse and sufficient password strength.

3. Data

(a) Data Storage, Isolation & Authentication.

Quantcast stores data in a multi-tenant cloud environment. Data, the Quantcast Choice Basic Services database and file system architecture are replicated between multiple geographically dispersed data centres. Quantcast logically isolates each customer’s data. A central authentication system is used across all Quantcast Choice Basic Services to increase uniform security of data.

(b) Decommissioned Disks and Disk Destruction Guidelines.

Data Destruction: Content on drives is treated at the highest level of classification. Content is destroyed on storage devices as part of the decommissioning process in accordance with industry security standards. Where cloud servers are hosted by third parties, they are securely wiped or overwitten prior to provisioning for reuse. Any media is securely wiped or degaussed and physically destroyed prior to leaving physical or logical secure boundaries. To validate secure wipe processes and procedures, third party auditors review the guidance within the applicable media protection policy, observe degaussing equipment and secure shred bins located within physical facilities, observe historical tickets which tracked the destruction of a hard drive within a data center and the process of a device being wiped and removed from the environment.

Data Deletion for block device based storage (SSD, HDD, ephemeral drives, etc.): In order to ensure that customer content is properly erased, Quantcast ensures that underlying storage media is wiped upon re-provisioning rather than upon de-provisioning. Processes that wipe content upon release of an asset (volume, object, etc.) are less reliable than processes that only re-provision clean storage to customers. Physical servers can reboot at any time for many reasons (power outage, system process interruption or failure, etc.), which might leave a wiping procedure in an incomplete state.

4. Personnel Security

Quantcast personnel are required to conduct themselves in a manner consistent with the company’s guidelines regarding confidentiality, business ethics, appropriate usage, and professional standards. Quantcast conducts reasonably appropriate background checks to the extent legally permissible and in accordance with applicable local labor law and statutory regulations.

Personnel are required to execute a confidentiality agreement and must acknowledge receipt of, and compliance with, Quantcast’s confidentiality and privacy policies. Personnel are provided with security training. Personnel handling Customer Personal Data are required to complete additional requirements appropriate to their role. Quantcast’s personnel will not process Customer Personal Data without authorisation.

5. Subprocessor Security

Before onboarding Subprocessors, Quantcast conducts an audit of the security and privacy practices of Subprocessors to ensure Subprocessors provide a level of security and privacy appropriate to their access to data and the scope of the services they are engaged to provide. Once Quantcast has assessed the risks presented by the Subprocessor then, subject always to the requirements set out in Section 11.3 (Requirements for Subprocessor Engagement), the Subprocessor is required to enter into appropriate security, confidentiality and privacy contract terms.
Appendix 4: Additional Terms for Non-European Data Protection Legislation

1. CCPA. Quantcast may offer and Customer may enable certain in-product settings, configurations or other functionality for the Quantcast Choice Basic Services. Subject to the terms of this Addendum and solely with respect to Customer Personal Information processed for the Quantcast Choice Basic Services, excluding any Additional Product or Service, Quantcast will act as Customer’s service provider, and as such, will not retain, use or disclose Customer Personal Information, other than (a) for a business purpose under the CCPA on behalf of Customer and the specific purpose of performing the Quantcast Choice Basic Services, as updated from time to time, or as otherwise permitted under the CCPA or (b) as may otherwise be permitted for service providers or under a comparable exemption from "sale" in the CCPA.

The provisions of this section are effective solely to the extent the CCPA applies. Customer is solely liable for its compliance with the CCPA in its use of the Quantcast Choice Basic Services. In addition to Section 6 of the Agreement, in the event of changes to the CCPA or issuance of any applicable regulation or court order or governmental guidance relating to the CCPA, Quantcast may change this section, if such change does not have a material adverse impact on Customer, as reasonably determined by Quantcast, with respect to exemptions from "sales" under the CCPA. The terms "business purpose", "personal information", "sale" and "service provider" as used in this section have the meanings given in the CCPA. “Customer Personal Information” means personal information that is processed by Quantcast on behalf of Customer in Quantcast's provision of the Quantcast Choice Basic Services. If there is any conflict or inconsistency between the terms of this section and the remainder of the Agreement (including the Quantcast Choice Data Processing Terms), the terms of this section will govern.
